			USDT	9,997.2803000000000000

Other Activity Asserted: 15355.0003 - Dear System Administrator: I kindly ask you to review my account again, and provide me with an explanation for the assigned amount. If possible, I'd appreciate a detailed breakdown of the calculations used to arrive at the current claim amount. I originally had a lot of assets on the platform (including Bitcoin (BTC), Metaplex Token (MPLX), Manchester City FC Fan Token (CITY)...etc. on the list above), plus the negative amount has not been automatically corrected by the system (risk preparation gold), and there are additional stored-value USDT assets on the account. My sub-account "#####" was liquidated by the system on November 9, 2022, but the platform system did not display the correct balance, causing my balance to be negative. According to the FTX user terms, the risk fund should automatically replenish the balance to a positive number. I opened a work order on the FTX platform, but I haven't received a reply yet, causing my balance to be incorrect. According to the FTX platform terms: 『 When an account is approaching automatic liquidation, it will be liquidated at the liquidation price, and the liquidity supply mechanism will take over the position. The remaining margin portion is transferred to the risk reserve. If the account is liquidated, the risk reserve will allocate funds to bring the account balance back to zero. 』 However, at that time, the clearing system did not operate normally, because spot and futures were almost suspended at that time, and the asset price on the website showed a significant difference from that of external coinbase/binance, which proved that the system did not operate normally. On the day "November 8, 2022", I did deposit a total of 9,997.2803 USDT through on-chain stored value, but it was not shown on the account. Currently only USDT 1.38 is shown on the account. In addition, in November 2022, I opened a work order on FTX. The content is that the clearing system cannot display my sub-account balance correctly! According to the user terms of the FTX website, the clearing system guarantees that users' rights will not be affected by delays in the clearing system, and that the risk reserve will allocate funds to restore the account balance to zero by the risk guarantee mechanism (system mechanism). However, the system did not take action at that time, my rights and interests were damaged, and the negative balance affected my subsequent operations, but I have not received a reply from FTX! Thank you so much.
